

EUGENE MARLOW'S HERITAGE ENSEMBLE

"... A CROSS CULTURAL COLLABORATION THAT SPINS & GROOVES"
—NEW YORK CITY JAZZ RECORD
WWW.EUGENEMARLOW.COM

THE MUSIC

"Marlow's jazz and world music realignments of familiar Hebraic melodies work two ways: non-Jews can groove on the instrumental fire and the observant can marvel at the smart treatments of traditional fare."

Kirk Silsbee
Los Angeles Times

"Marlow gives the Hebraic tunes some delightfully inventive arrangements that bring the melodies firmly into jazz."

Bruce Lindsay
All About Jazz

"The Heritage Ensemble creates wonderful cultural connections through the universal language of music."

Arts Westchester (New York)

"A first rate example of the harmonic road less traveled."

Brent Black
www.criticaljazz.com

"It is jazz simultaneously at its purest and most multicultural."

Jeff Simon
Buffalo News

"... the group takes each beautiful melody in turns and works through its theme, explores its possibilities, and never overstays its welcome."

THE MUSICIANS

"Marlow has assembled an interesting and tight quintet of Latin and American jazz players. The result is a churning Afro-Cuban brew."

Lee Mergner
Jazz Times

"Across the band's six previous albums, Marlow managed to put his own spin on jazz and/or world music, often blending ideas from various cultures, style, and musical languages."

Dan Bilawsky
JAZZEd Magazine

"The players are all first call cats . . ."

Chris Spector
Midwest Record

"The Heritage Ensemble is doing something no one else is doing . . . and they do it very well."

Grego Applegate Edwards
GappleGateMusicReview.blogspot.com

"Marlow and the rhythm section are featured prominently . . . a particularly strong performance utilizing both classical and jazz elements."

Don Lerman
Cadence Magazine

"Eugene Marlow and his Heritage Ensemble pull the rabbit out of the hat . . . blending jazz and Jewish music themes with great flair and musicianship."

Mike Gerber
Author of Jazz Jews, UK
